Elvis Impersonators, Dinner, Silent Auction Highlight Benefit for KMC Oncology Services

DAYTON – He has performed with Lou Rawls, Don McLean and Brenda Lee, and soon Ryan Roth will be in Dayton, performing Elvis Presley standards. He will donate the concert’s proceeds to Kettering Medical Center’s Oncology Services. Festivities begin with a silent auction at 5:30 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 5, at The Mandalay, 2700 East River Road.

A dinner precedes the 8 p.m. show featuring two Elvis impersonators, the last of which is Roth. Tickets for this memorable event are $40, $45 and $50, and a cash bar will be available.

“Proceeds from this event will fund educational materials and support groups for our patients here at Kettering,” said Kenneth Chaij, Director of Oncology Services at KMC. “We hope to provide tools to avoid cancer through education and also ensure that those who have been diagnosed have emotional support and proper follow up to avoid recurrence of their cancer.”

To order tickets call (937) 294-6600. You can also go to www.mandalaycatering.com for additional information.
